A poem and a quote:

Life's love is like cold water on a hot day a letter from a dear friend the warmth of my mother's hug the softness of her and her smallness like an envelopment like laughing with a lover like rain on dry dry land like rain like water everywhere in a paddy field plentiful plentiful like it should be like it always should be

The sākhi is wisdom's eye-look in your heart, understand.
